IN MILADY'S BOUDOIR

BY GWEN SEARS.

THE BEAUTIFUL MOUTH.

If your mouth is neither large nor small and is graceful and firm; if your lips are neither thick nor thin, nor compressed; nor weak, but are naturally perfect in shape, they would not achieve beauty without an expression of frankness and amiability. Frankness amiability and content in the mouth is its greatest charm. No artificial tint ever added beauty to rival nature. It only makes the mouth appear broader and injures the texture of the lips.

Your eyes have not the gift of smiling to nearly such a degree as your mouth. To prove this, you may take a picture of a face with a sad expression, and paste over the line of depression on the smiling face. You will find the entire expression of the face changed at once, although the eyes themselves have not been altered. The bad habit that so many girls have of biting their lips to make them red, thickens them and dries them so that they become chapped and colorless and lose their delicate curves.

Constantly wetting the lips with the tongue is an unpleasant sight. You will see one woman going along with her lips hanging open; another with the lower lip thrust forward; another will be chewing her lips; another will have her lips screwed up to one side, and so on. A little powder is all that is necessary to overcome these habits.

If your general health is good your lips will naturally be a good color. If the circulation is poor the lips will be purple. If your digestion is bad your lips will be white. If your whole system lacks tone and vigor your lips will be lacking in color. Therefore, instead of resorting to carmine to improve the color of the lips, build up the constitution by all the means that make for health and beauty.

What the French Maid Told Marjorie

BY JANE LOWELL.

"Oh dear," sighed Marjorie, "I have spilled some oil all over my best tablecloth and I don't know how to get it out. Can't you tell me of some way, Marie, so I can do it at once before it gets set?"

"I should try an absorbent first," advised Marie. "A little flour or over the oil will frequently absorb every trace of it. Such an absorbent should be spread over the spot and allowed to remain for several hours before it is brushed off. A warm iron, placed on a cloth over the powder and left until cold, will hasten the process.

If the stain remains after one or more applications of the absorbent, sponging with a solvent may be necessary. This is advisable, wooden garments, for even when all grease is apparently removed, enough may remain to collect dirt and cause ugly spots to appear long after the original stain is forgotten.

"Many fabrics when wet with a cleanser show only the outline of the spot. To obviate the difficulty, under the spot to be cleaned and a circle of French chalk or fuller's earth spread over it. This will define the outer edge of the spot and will absorb the cleanser when it spreads. Thus prevent the unsightly ring which is often left.

When sponging a spot, if one commences at the outside and works toward the center, spreading of the material is avoided. It is always safer to test the cleanser on a scrap of the material to see that the color is not affected. Chloroform and ether are valuable grease solvents for delicate fabrics. Alcohol banishes grease but often affects colors.

The Ellsworth Store Where Fashions Reign Supreme

"What's What in Hats"

For Every Occasion, at Popular Prices

The General Utility Hat

The material of the hat is an important feature of this season's millinery. Hatters' plush is one of the most favored materials for general wear.

Illustrated is one of our many designs of hatters' plush trimmed simply with ribbon or fur. The mushroom brim on sailors is especially good.

In this type of hat at popular prices we can show you a variety of sailors and tricorns each brightened by some new trimming $5.00 and $7.50

For Afternoon and and "Dress-up"

The new silver and gold lace hats are really the newest thing for afternoon or "dress-up" occasions and are universally becoming.

In the illustration appears a medium sailor with slightly drooping brim, trimmed with blue picot-edged ribbon and fur.

Some of these lace hats have transparent crowns of lace and some are of velvet. Some are small and some are large—in fact, a large variety of shapes.

We are also showing rather large hats trimmed with small ostrich trimmings which will be very smart for semi-dressy hats. Prices range from $6.00 to $10.00

For Motoring and Outing

Because Velour is a material that combines rich appearance and general usefulness, it has become very popular for general sport hats.

The illustration shows a very good model of unusually soft and rich velour, trimmed smartly with high-grade gros grain ribbon band and bow.

These hats may be shaped to suit each individual. The colors are green, brown, navy, taupe, purple and black, $2.50 to $7.50
